

Teaching is an art form, a tapestry of many approaches, shaped by purpose and values, and enlivened with passion and commitment. Knowing that learning is a response and a commitment, teachers make informed choices concerning method and use of technology.